

JoDD

Journal on Developmental Disabilities

Volume 25 Number 1, 2020

On-Line First

Dear Reader,

The editorial board of the Journal on Developmental Disabilities and the OADD board of directors regularly review the benefits, challenges and processes of publishing the Journal in an effort to ensure the quality and timeliness of articles published.

One issue impacting timely publishing is the need to compile and format an entire issue before any article can be published. To address this, we have initiated a process of “On-line First” publishing. Once all articles for an issue have been posted we will look to get the entire issue formatted.

All the articles posted here have been peer-reviewed, edited, accepted and copyedited. The articles are considered published in 2020, Volume 25, Number 1.

When the full issue is formatted a Table of Contents and Cover page will be added and the article formatting will match that of other issues. Links to the articles will not change.

Thank you

The Ontario Association on Developmental Disabilities exists to support professionals and students working and pursuing careers in the field of developmental disabilities.